Directions to Fen Farm

If you make your own way to Mersea, as you come on to the Island take the left hand fork, signposted East Mersea - there will be brown information signs for Fen Farm. Follow the road until you go past the "Dog & Pheasant" PH. After the next bend the entrance to the camp site is the first one on the right, Moore Lane. It's the blue dot on the map. (Do not go as far as the "old" entrance - this takes you to a different site now!)

The road onto the island is liable to flood sometimes when the tide is high. This is not forecast to happen over the weekend of the draught tests!

There are more direct routes but if you want to avoid all of the unclassified roads and country lanes stay on the A12 or A120 to Colchester then take the B1025 to Mersea. However you will need a good map or a SatNav through Colchester as the road signs are intermittent.

If you come off the A12 at Junction 26 (Stanway) and you are towing or in a large van DO NOT TAKE THE ROAD FROM HECKFORD BRIDGE TO LAYER-DE-LA-HAYE, THERE IS A WIDTH LIMIT (6' 6"). IT IS NOT SUITABLE FOR MOTORHOMES OR CARAVANS. This is the road from the B1022 at the junction near the old Heckford Angel PH (now closed). Go through Colchester instead.

If you are unsure about which way to come, please contact the Test Manager for more advice.
